THE FIGURES ON DRESS PARADE .- Assuming an army at 600,000 men formed into line, eingle rank, they will show a front of 23 miles, ellowing 2 feet to a man, seys the N. Y. Jonrsel of Commerce, which is rather close pecking for free movements. We will counter-merch one-halfthe right wing-and place them as a resr rank (the usual formetion), and we have a front of 111/4 miles, which distance they would require when marching in column of platoons. Should the generalissimo wish to make a repid inspection, If he had the eppliance of a parallel railroad treck, and a fact locomotive, he may run down in front of the line in a quarter of an honr, and make a hasty review. If monnted on his charger, at a smart trot, it would require over a half honr. This respectable army, formed in hollow equere (in donble rank), would be nearly three miles from side to side, ebowing on each front a frection under three miles. The enclosure would contain about 5,760 acros, an area equal to some immense Indien corn fislds in Illinois. When marching in column, it would require a whole day, taking the thing easy, for the extreme left wing to reach the point left by the right wing in the early stert. When we add the commission is a first artillery, ammunition, and other wheel trensport, we must give the army two whole days before the -ing debouch from the starting point of the righ sing. INTERESTING CORRESPONDENCE -In these DYRD & LANDELL. ain the releese of rebel prisoners, the following correspondence will be read with interest: Maj. Gen II. W. HALLECK, St. Louis:

DEAE Str.: On my roturn home a few deye ago, I found several latters addressed to me by friends in the interior of this State, seeking my riends in the interior of this State, aserting my aid to precine the parole or protection of those who had been engaged in the reballion.

One care is etrongly urgad by leading citizens of the interior that I will speedily mention.

A Baptist preacher, who had n charge some two or three churches in the interior of the State, when the stabiling assumed an active from when the rebellion assumed an ective from A compeny was organized, composed meinly of his congregations, and he was (as stated) strongly nrged hy the parents of the young men to go along to see after and cara for their annethat he finely consented and left home as Capteia of the company, and hes ever since been with Price's army. But I am informed that he has of late assumed the more peaceful station of Chaplain in the army. It is now said by his friends thethe desires to return home and lead a more quiet life. when the rebellion assumed an ective from that he desires to return home and lead a more quiet life.

Ilis wife, a most excellent and worthy lady, writes me to know if I can procure a parole for her husband, and a permit for her to he the hearer of It to Price's army, saying that her husband would gledly return home end take no more part in the war. She makes a further request that if you will not grant her husband a parole, to learn on what terms you will permit him to return home.

As I am anxions to (blige the friends who write me in this case, and who, I believe, have all been faithful to the Government, will you be kind enough to give the subject your attention (if your important duties will permit) and let me know what answer to give to this and similar inquiries, row becoming frequent from friends th oughout the State.

Very respectfully,

WM M. MCPHERSON.

HEADQUARTERS DEPARTMENT OF THE MISSISSIPPI ST. LOUIS, April 8, 1863. Wm. M. McTherson, Esq., St. Louis: Sin: Your letter of this date is received. In answer to your inquirles, I have to state that persons in arms against the Unite? States, under General Price, can be received only as prisoners of war, and that they will be treated in the seme kind and lenieut manner as others have been who are willing to abandon hnpeless and unbuly canee, take the prescribed oath of allogiance, and give satisfactory socurity for their future good conduct.

Any one who volunterily takes the oath, and gives his parele of honnr, and afterwards violates it by silling or abetting the enemy, will most certainly he executed. A man who violates his military parole commits the most serious of all military offerces, and I will pardon no one who is guilty of that crime. gnilly of that crime.
In ragerd to the wife of the Reverend Captain Chaplain, in Gen. Price's army, who wishes to visit her hneband, please inform her that no such permission can be granted. Nearly all the secessioniets of this State, who have entered the rebel service, have left their wives and daughters to the care of the Federal troops. There is scarcely a single instance where this confidence has been shused by us. But what return have these ladies made for this protection? In many cases they have acted as spics and informers for the enemy, and have been most loud mouthed in their share of our cause, and most invaling in their abuse of our cause, and most insulting in their conduct towards those who support it! Under any other Government they would, for such con-duct, he expelled from the country, or confined within the walls of a prison.

I am well awere that some good Union men in the interior of the State think that those now the interior of the State think that those now sorving the robel cense under Gen. Price should be permitted to return to their homes, without being considered prisoners of war, or when taken prisoners of war, that they should be released simply on promise of future good conduct.

Experience has satisfied me that such a course would be neither wise nor safe. Indeed, I had that the course would be neither wise nor safe. that the very persons who advecate a more leni-ent policy towards returned secsesionista, are also continually potitioning to have additional troopssent to their counties, to protect them from the operations of these same rebels.

OLIVER LICAS, Local Editor and Reporter WEDNESDAY, APRIL 9, 1862.

GOOD NEWS-GREAT NEWS-GLORIOUS NEWS .- Another child is horn of this teeming war, and its name is victory. Another rebel stronghold is ours. Island No. 10, the rebel Gihreltar, Sebastopol, Ihormopylæ, is taken. Its resistance was long and stout, its defenees were immense, but it was forced to yield to the onward and rushing tide of loyal conquests. Its very name became a magic sound upon rebel lips and in rebel hearts, but henceforth it will be a dolcful tone to their stricken souls. There is some real or apparent disparity between the despatch of yesterday from St. Louis and that of the same date from Chicago. That from St. Lonis says that the enemy abandoned the famous Island, leaving all their artillery, baggago, supplies, and sick. This implies that the body of the Confederate forces made their escape, but the despatch from Chicago announces the surrender of the entire position, men, gnns, and transports. Probably the despatches that we shall receive in time for the next page of onr paper will make all elear. At any rate the capture of the Island with all of the guus, transports, and a portion of the men, is unquestionable. This is nn accomplished fact, and a most thrilling one. Only think what an immenso amount of nrtillery must have fallen into our hands. All the As persisent to these questions, let mask if you have ever gone back to the time when mest of the Bre. kiarnings pap res in the f.ee Statas were in danger of heing mothed and toru out after the fall of Fort Sumples? A number of them were torn out. Not one of them that did not tremble hefore the awakened wrath of the community around them. Some were indicted by grand juries; others had to he protected by the police; and others were presuptorily stepped by the Federal authorities. I will not ask why these demonstrations occurred; but I will ask if you can point to exclude newspaper correspondents. possession. These pro an important gain to us and a terriblo loss to the rebels. The whole country can readily understand how deeply the rebel canse must suffer from such a loss at n time when Gen. Beauregard is loudly appealing to the Southern people for their very half. ing to the Southern people for their very bells to be mannfactured into caunon.

The despetch of April 7th from New Mad-

The despatch of April 7th from New Mad-The armed rebols are watching their movements with agerness and jvy.

The reorganization of the Breckinridgers, and their determination to oppose all efforts at union batween loyal man, will, of course, force other party organizations. The question arises, how much is to be gained by allowing the Breckinridgers to triumph under the name of Democracy? Would they not labor for such a compromise as would discrepance the arrow and the propose. Are rid gives a highly interesting necount of the brilliant minor successes of our gunboats and troops before the surrender of the Island. The rebels that escaped fled probably to Fort Pillow or Memphis, tenring up the railroad track and destroying bridges behind them, and perhaps they made their way through Memphis toward Corinth unless they were too much disorganized to think of any more fighting anywhere. The great battle is yet to take place at Corinth, if the rebels, at the nppronch of the grand army of the Union, shall not flee from that position as they have fled from so many others. As for the veternn Foote's battle-scarred but indomitable fleet, it will now sweep down the Mississippi to remove the next obstacle to its progress toward Now Orleans.

The intelligence from Virginia is stirring A largo portion of the magnificent army of the Potomac was at the last dates advancing upon the enemy at Yorktown, and all the fortified points of importaneo in front of that place had already been taken. But we of course know not what further news the latest despatches npon our next page may contain. All our dreams however are of victory.

DR. CLIFFE, OF TENNESSEE .- It will be remembered that at the battle of Mill Spring, Dr. Cliffe, Gen. Z llicoffer's Brigade Snrgeon, was Rufus J. Polk, which is remarkable for its magtaken prisoner. He was subsequently sent to this city and finally unconditionally released by Gen. Buell, returning to his home in Franklin, Tenn. While on parole in this city he mingled fresly with gentlemen of his profession and other citi- brou; ht forcibly to my memory, for many a zens, ell of whom were most agreeably impressed by him. The Editor of the Brigade Jonrnal. published at Columbia, Tenn., met Dr. Cliffe at Gen. Nazley's headquarters, in that city, on the 4th Inst., and also met Lieat. Parks, formerly in the servica with Dr. Cliffe. The Edltor says both these gentlemen have retired from the Confederete service, satisfied that the rebellion cannot succeed. The Elitor says that, since the far in our advance I wonder if they will wait battle of Mill Spring, Dr. Cliffs has been an for us to come up. I am afraid not, for the only efficient ally of the Union, and has materially ailed the cause by his correction of the mistakes under which our fallow citizens of Tennessee have labored, in regard to the character of the war prosscuted by the Government of the United 5. ntes for its salvation and axistence. A RAILROAD. "SINK."-The Lafayatle Journal says a portion of the track of the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne, and Chicago railroad has surk out of sight three times. The spica whera this oc eurs is about two hundrad foat long. After lealing two tracks, the company inserted piles. These also snuk ont of sight. They are now driving down plles of over 11xty feet in length, and yat have not found hard ground. The place where this occure is any posed to have been once occupied surance. by a lake over which vegetation has spread a thin crust. Thara is another place on the same road whara appearances indicate that the track will sink some dey for the space of half a mile. Supposs the crust should give way some day suddenly under the weight of a heavy passenger train, and care, passengers, and locomotive should in a trice disappear from eight?

In Oc ober, 1861, experiments were made at sacd, said to the astonishment of all present the 64-pounders did more execultue than the broad great Armstrong game. This was accounted for by the greater velocity of the round shot at a short range when fired from the smooth-bored gams. After firing with shells, rolld shot was then tried with all the gams, and two hundred pound holts wars used in the 100-pounders with charges of sixteen pounds of powder. Even with such heavy missiles, the effect upon the target was no greater than with the shells fired from the 68-pounders. A salvo from the whole five gams fired against the terget failed to per strate through it, but a gap, six inches deep and fifteen inches long, with three large crarks around it, was made, three of the five solid shot baving struck in the same place. Since these experiments were made, round shot has been considered in England the most effective agains iron plates.

A very destructive fire occurred in this city yesterdsy afternoon, by which the large and c mindions infiding used by the Michigan Central Railroed company se an engine honsa was destroyed, at d a vest amount of damage done to sight engines which were within.

The particulars, as near as they can be accertained, are these: in the southeast corner of the building is a room known as the "surdbouse," where sand is dried by means of a kiin. The men employed about the premises left about noon, and on returning about an bour after, found that the building hid taken fire from the kiin, and the filmes had already resched the roof. The alarm was given, and in the mean line the employes of the company exerted themselves to suddue tha filmes. Thase efforts, however, were usaless, so far es the saving of the building was cone rnad. However, they succeed d in removing three if the elevan engines which were in the room. A strong breez, from the southwest materially aided in the spread of the fire, and it was faired that the adjacent buildings would elso be me ignited; but, by the exertions of the facilities for obtaining an inexhaustible knipply if water, the dre was confined to the engine house.

The walls of the building are but little injured, and it is said that the but dang can be a parted of rebout $10,000. The engines were damaged but little, owing to the feet that they were kept quite cool by the large velume of water thrown upon them. The whole damage is considered to

CELEBRATION OF ST. PATRICK'S DAY IN IRELAND.—St. Patrick's Day was observed in Ireland, this year, with the usual celebratins. In Dublin the military ceremony known as "trooping the castla guard" took place, according to custom. The troops consisted of the 86th, 87th, and 88th regiments of foot, and several companies of the 15th Hussars. The Lord Lientenant appared on the platform with his juile, and was raceived with vehement cheering by the danse crowd. After the bands had played the national airs, the "boys," who were in brinday humor, got np some fun by dancing an Iriah jig for the amusement of their betters.

The usual St. Patrick's ball at the Cas'le was
